"LORD, WHAT WILT THOU HAVE ME TO DO?"

- Meekly toiling, "doing good," see the blessèd Saviour, all the Father's will his food, meat and drink his favour.
   Think upon his perfect ways, all his service ponder; so shall ye proclaim his praise, tell his glory yonder.
- 3. Oh, how blessèd is the taskGod to you hath given!Cease not, then, of him to askwisdom, sent from heaven.Forward! In the Saviour's name!his behest obeying,north, south, east, and west, the samecrimson cross displaying.
- 4. Happy if his will ye seek,
  this your only mission;
  willing, though the flesh is weak,
  strong in his commission.
  This is all his servants need,
  all their work, his bidding –
  not for man's applause they plead,
  fear not man's forbidding.
- 5. Courage! O ye faithful ones!
  Satan's darts defying;
  stand! the Father's worthy sons,
  on his word relying.
  Never take a step alone –
  God your expectation!
  Onward! make the field your own,
  heralds of salvation!

Words: Hannah K. Burlingham. Music: Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Copyright © 2015 Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Source: www.christmysong.com/1126/