IT IS NOT WE WHO CAN DIRECT

- 2. The Lord, our leader, goes before, sufficient he, and none beside; and were the dangers many more, we need not fear with such a guide.
- 3. Thro' snares, thro' dangers, and thro' foes, he leads, whose arm almighty is; what then, if earth and hell oppose!
 We need not fear, if we are his.
- 4. All things are ours, if we are his, all things on earth, and all in heav'n; and high the destination is of those to whom this grace is giv'n.
- 5. Tho' many are their foes, and strong, tho' fears are great, and strength is small, tho' sharp their warfare is, and long, yet heav'n will make amends for all.
- 6. Their conflicts there for ever cease; no warfare is, where all are friends; there all is love, and all is peace, and joy is there that never ends.
