NOW MAY THE SPIRIT FROM ABOVE

2. The sweet desire of holy things, that finds its element in converse with the King of kings, with nought but this content.

3. The pledge of sacred joys to come, anticipation blessed of heav'n, our everlasting home; of heav'n, our place of rest.

4. A feeling not to be expressed, but sweetly known to those who lean upon the Saviour's breast, who on his truth repose.

5. To us the Comforter be giv'n, whose presence better is than life itself, than all but heav'n; the grace we ask is this.
