AWAKE, AWAKE, O ARM OF GOD!

2. O be, as thou wast wont to be, when thou didst "wound the dragon's head".As when thou didst divide the sea, and through it didst the people lead.

3. O do, as thou wast wont to do, what time the smitten rock obeyed; and struck, into a fountain grew, thy mighty pow'r was then displayed.

4. Awake, awake, O arm of God! that man may learn, and cease to mock; the word of truth, be this thy rod, and man's proud heart the smitten rock.

5. Let streams of "godly sorrow" flow from hearts that never felt before; thy mighty pow'r we thus shall know, O arm of God, thy mighty pow'r.
