'TWAS HE WHO MADE THE WORLD THAT SAID

- 2. Wherever Jesus moved, he found that every place was hostile ground; the earth was occupied by those who gloried in the name of foes.
- 3. No rest had he from pain and strife, a life of suffering was his life; nor did the Saviour find repose, till life itself had reached a close.
- 4. In victory he found repose, in death he vanquished all his foes; he grasped the pillars of their pow'r, and all their glory sunk that hour.
- 5. The battle 's fought, the day is won, the conflict 's past, the work is done; and now he reaps the fruit of toil, the glory his, and his the spoil.
- 6. A little while, and he shall come, who could not find on earth a home; to their great joy he shall appear, who, like himself, are strangers here.
- 7. Both heaven and earth shall pass away, their doom is fixed for that great day; but all his saints shall then be blessed, and gain an everlasting rest.
