SAY, WHO THEY ARE WHO HAVE BELIEVED

- In him mankind no beauty sees, whom God the Father sends and seals; h e has no charms the world to please, in whom the Spirit fully dwells.
- 3. Messiah's claims are set at nought, he lives rejected and contemned; and when he dies, he then is thought by justice and by truth condemned.
- 4. As he was once, his Truth is now, rejected and despised of men; loving or hating that, we show how we'd have viewed the Saviour then.
- 5. Who then are they who now believe the truth that men revile and hate? who thence their peace and hope receive, and for the Saviour's coming wait?
- 6. His people are, as he was here, an object of contempt to men; and when he shall again appear, they shall be like their Master then.
