EXALT THE NAME OF HIM WHO BORE

- 2. 'Tis strange, 'tis passing strange, that he who reigns in heaven above, should bear our curse upon the tree: but thus he shows his love.
- 3. The love that without measure is, the love of God to man;no love can be compared to his, 'tis vast, too vast to scan.
- 4. We praise the name of him who shed his precious blood to save; of him who lay among the dead, lay buried in the grave.
- 5. Of him who rose again, and lives, who lives in heaven above; of him who grace and glory gives, the God of power and love.
- 6. Of him who soon from heaven will come, in power and majesty, and take his waiting people home, with him in heaven to be.
