'TIS GOOD, 'TIS SWEET, 'TIS PASSING SWEET

- 2. The privilege of doing so is great, we know; exceeding great; but we should feel, as well as know, that we are blessed, when at his feet.
- 3. To us, O Lord, reveal thy love, while at thy feet we lowly fall; descend in power from above, and bless us now, O bless us all.
- 4. O teach us, Lord, to watch and pray; and should the day of trial come, be near us then, our guide and stay, nor leave us, till we reach our home:
- 5. that home, where all thy people meet. Tho' scattered here, they meet above; with welcomes loud each other greet, and sing the praise of him they love:
- 6. of him who washed them with his blood; of him who saved them by his grace; who made them kings and priests to God, and brought them to behold his face.
