EVENINC

2. The day is dark, the night is long, unblessed with thoughts of thee, and dull to me the sweetest song unless its theme thou be.

3. Like pleasant thoughts of those we love which are of self a part, which neither day nor night remove out of the loving heart:

4. so all day long, and all the night, Lord, let thy presence be mine air, my breath, my shade, my light – myself absorbed in thee.
