RETURN UNTO THY REST

- This heart, thus trying in a thousand centres, to find an orbit round which it may roll, comes back depressed, taught by these vain adventures: One centre only stays the restless soul.
- 3. Only in One is rest for us; true quiet for the vexed human heart is from above: though far removed from toil, and brawl, and riot, it cannot rest itself in creature-love.
- 4. Earth is all motion and disquiet; only in One above, who changes not nor moves, we find repose: there tranquil, but not lonely, we rest in One who ever, ever loves.
- 5. Life is all tempest, o'er time's ocean ranging; a troubled morning, and an angry even: only in One is anchorage unchanging, only in One is the eternal haven.
- 6. Creation rocks; all that is made is moving; the strongest, brightest, goodliest, and best: in One, the ever-fixed and ever-loving, in One I anchor, and in One I rest!

Words: Horatius Bonar. Music: Johannes Thomas Rüegg.
Copyright © 2021 Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Source: www.christmysong.com/2276/