EYE TO EYE

2. He speaks the well-known, 'Come to me,' we come without delaying; he takes our hand, we his, our will his gentle touch obeying.

3. He leaneth upon us, and we upon his arm are leaning; he speaks to us, we speak to him, no distance intervening.

4. He gives his pledge, he taketh ours: no word of his he breaketh; he keepeth, and will keep us still till the bright morn awaketh.

5. He waits for us, we wait for him, our home he is preparing; we in his joy rejoicing, he our joy for ever sharing.
