THE JUST FOR THE UNJUST

- He lives a human life;
 a human death he dies;
 lies buried in a human grave,
 the accepted sacrifice.
- 3. He riseth from the tomb, and leaveth in his stead the mortal wrappings of the flesh, the raiment of the dead.
- 4. He took our place below, we take his place on high: he lived that we might live, he died that we might never die.
- 5. Through him we come to thee,O God of holy love!He is the way, the truth, the life,oh fix our hearts above!
- 6. Our life is in thy love; without it all is night: life is not life without thy love; thy friendship is our light.
