THE NEW SONG

A song of the heart that is broken,
a song of the sighs and the tears,
the sickness, the want, and the sadness
of the days of our pilgrimage years.

3. A song of the widows and orphans, of the weary and hungry and sad – loud praise of the will thou hast broken, the will of the young and the glad.

4. A song of the outcast and martyrs, a song of the scorned and despised – the lonely, dishonoured, forsaken, who knew the rejection of Christ.

5. Sweet sings the great choir of sorrow the song of the gladness untold, to him on the Throne of his glory, who wept in the days of old.

Words: Heinrich Suso. Translation: Frances Bevan. Music: Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Copyright © 2013 Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Source: www.christmysong.com/763/