JESUS

- 2. O Name, thou art here the music, and here the sweetness and song, though the sea and the waves are roaring, and though the night is long.
- 3. The night but a night of glory, for there in the heavens I see the Morning Star in its brightness, thy gift of love to me.
- 4. I have the pledge of the dawning, the glow of the golden Day, for thou, O my Lord, hast arisen, the guide Star of my way.
- 5. The light of the Star outshining the myriad suns is mine oh sure is the glorious morning, the morn of joy divine;
- 6. of joy and of gladness and singing, when deep unto deep shall call; the sweetness shall answer the sorrow, the vinegar and the gall;
- 7. the depth of the glorious music the depth of the bitter cry of him in the darkness abandoned, unsolaced, alone, to die.
- 8. To the blackness of darkness shall answer the light as a jasper stone, the rainbow of glory encircling Christ on his radiant throne.

Words: Frances Bevan. Music: Johannes Thomas Rüegg.
Copyright © 2013 Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Source: www.christmysong.com/799/