

- 2. Jesus, thy love unchanging, how passing sweet, when I shall arise with singing, thyself to meet!
- Jesus! the One unchanging, that love of yore, that love that shall be my gladness for evermore –
- 4. that love is the love that bears me
 o'er starless deeps;
 that never through long night watches
 slumbers nor sleeps –
- 5. that filleth the lonely chambers with psalm and song, and along my journey guards me, all, all along.
- 6. Of old on the Cross not deeper than now it is deep not sweeter in innermost Heaven than whilst I weep.
- 7. Nor less whilst I traverse the desert in pilgrim guise, than when white and radiant before thee in Paradise.

Words: Frances Bevan. Music: Johannes Thomas Rüegg.
Copyright © 2013 Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Source: www.christmysong.com/802/