

- 2. True warriors of the King, fear not the mighty host of powers and principalities beneath, heed not the hellish boast.
- 3. Dread not the evil day, dark as that day may be.Courage! However mighty is thy foe, a greater is with thee!
- 4. Take up, ye men of war, the armour of the Lord; the panoply of heaven, the spear-proof shield, the helmet, and the sword.
- 5. Quit you like men of might; be strong, and face the foe: war the good warfare here of faith and truth, lay the great tempter low.
- 6. To him who overcomes does the bright crown belong; his is the everlasting recompense, the victor's palm and song.

Words: Horatius Bonar. Music: Johannes Thomas Rüegg.
Copyright © 2013 Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Source: www.christmysong.com/841/