

2. But Lord, when I retrace, at close of day, how far I've seen thy face, – or gone astray; I mourn, I sigh, when I descry how little I obey.

3. O Lord, supply thy grace; teach me to set thyself before my face, and ne'er forget that thou art mine, and I am thine, whose blood has paid my debt.

Words: James George Deck. Music: Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Copyright © 2014 Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Source: www.christmysong.com/942/