THE ATTRACTIONS OF CHRIST

2. I've found him meet my every need, that he a Saviour is indeed; each rising want has been supplied, whene'er to him I have applied; he is of grace the treasury, all fulness dwells in him for me.

4. Yet all he is, he is for me, so meek in all his majesty; so tender in almightiness; so sympathising in distress; so liberal, – all he has he gave; yea, e'en himself, my soul to save.

3. Since then, I have such glories viewed in him, who has my surety stood; such beauties, human and divine, in all his words and actions shine; that now I sing with rapturous heart, "Thou altogether lovely art."

5. It is not fear that makes me flee, Saviour of sinners, now to thee; thy excellences me constrain to seek thee as my greatest gain – thy presence my eternal home: Come, blessèd Lord, oh, quickly come!

Words: James George Deck. Music: Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Copyright © 2014 Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Source: www.christmysong.com/947/