WHEN EXPECTING SUFFERING

2. I make no arm of flesh my stay – all human powers thy will obey – all means on thee depend – whate'er that will appoint for me, in life, in death, thine let me be, support me to the end!

4. Stand by me – speak those words divine, "I have redeemed thee, thou art mine, thee will I ne'er forsake;" say to my agitated heart, nothing from thee my soul shall part, nor thy sure covenant break.

- 3. Give me that faith which nerves the soul, that love which can all fear control, which "all things can endure;" now, in my time of utmost need, my Saviour! let me find indeed thy word of promise sure.
- 5. And if a creature so defiled, whom yet thou deign'st to call thy child, may ask a boon beside, 'tis this – that in my suffering hour thy grace may manifest its power, thy name be glorified.
